Also, can you use liquid bleach. And, if so, where does that go In my search for this information Ive been really horrified to read about all the negatives experiences with this washer due to mold and smell. I am really hoping for the best here. Im kind of at my wits end. Thanks to all for any info. Another vote for living in the house and using the kitchen for at least six months, preferably a year, to see how everything functions and to think about what works and doesnt. In the meantime, while youre enjoying your new house and new kitchen congratulations!, read through the Kitchen forum archives, and also especially these posts and all of their links, which is a great way to start your planning and thinking New to Kitchens. To me, the current placement of the upper cabinet looks like a man in the winter wearing a heavy coat and no pants. Sort of top heavy. But its an easy fix. Add a matching base cabinet below it or a free standing piece of storage furniture like njay suggests. The second thing I think of is how nice that upper would look on the wall to the left of the stairs where there is more room with a cabinet underneath, and without the foyer table and decorations. If you rehang the upper and add a matching lower cabinet, youll need a counter top for the lower. You dont have to match your existing granite to the new base cabinet counter.

If you dont need the storage, you could remove the upper cabinet and use it elsewhere maybe rehang it the garage over a work bench. After the cabinet is down, If you need a bar cart and love that one, keep it where it is. Without the upper itll work there. How you decorate is a matter of taste and you may love your foyer table and decorations and your bar cart. If your things make you happy thats important, and you should keep them. But the upper cabinet hung like it is now without something substantial below it will always feel a bit off in the same way uppers look off in a laundry room without the bulk of a washer and dryer below..See More Kitchen update dilemma where to put that pesky microwave. However, basic countertop MW sizes really have not altered, unless you want something larger or smaller. Weve several new and old MW rather newly married, still sorting. Which is why we are going with a MW garage in an upper cabinet. We can replace as needed. Id have loved a MW drawer in an upper base drawer, to lift up hot dished a bit and over to a counter. But I do better seeing across than down for buttons and we didnt have the lower cabinet area to spare. If you plan to use the area beside the cabs, bbtix, is correct, unless you are willing to hire contractors yourself. We did. Easy with some know how. There is clearly electrical there, and who knows where the duct work is located. Youd have to carefully demo the area you want the cubby. Plus any areas to tie in electrical outlet for the MW to existing electrical. Be willing to work around duct work. Have matching cabinetry door if thats what you want, drywall, paint. I imagine you will end up trying a MW on your counter top. Painted Ranges. Which Do You Prefer Poll. Q Comments 14 I would NOT buy a new white enameled range, but might consider a color Its interesting to hear that from you. I recall seeing a picture of your kitchen, and your vintage stove looks gorgeous. It IMHO fits well in that location.

Mixing styles can work really well. On the other hand, you are correct and there are a lot of contemporary white appliances that just look and feel cheaply made. It doesnt matter which color they are, if the quality isnt there, the appliance looks bad no matter the surface finish. And the reverse is true as well. Our house has a contemporary design with lots of natural woods, glass and stainless steel. So, both paneled and stainless appliances were a natural fit. If we had decided on a different material palette, I could absolutely have seen powder coated appliances. But then, we picked nicer appliances to begin with; that helps..See More mskathyny Original Author 8 years ago Thank you so much, dadoes!! You saved the day for me. I assume you dont use bleach. Or only powdered bleach in the II compartment Have a lovely, clean, holiday! Where is this How do I do this Oh, I guess Im just supposed to figure it out via trial and error. Also, dont use cheap fabric softener and then as little as possible. Do believe Ecover is plant based. I picked it up on the fly at the health food because the fragrance was OK. Pinky, Id love you to try it and get your opinion. Will send you some. I think it gives great results. Its my new first choice. This video was actually pretty helpful its an an 8 minute demo on both the Bosch Axxis washer and dryer I actually thought you put the washing liquid in the right compartment, not the left despite dacades comment, so the video was great to watch and get clarification. Thanks all, and thanks to mskathyny for the question clearly not a dumb one after all! Helps prevent detergent residue build up. Best to check the instruction manual to confirm which. Majority of manufacturers have them available at their web site via model number search. I let it run with no clothes and let it mix with the water for about 20 seconds and then add clothes. If so, does pod go in the far left compartment.

Thumbs down and no thank you I just bought a second hand Bosch Maxx from my sister and is my first front loader. I agree with Terry re symbols instead of words to show what to do. Nuts! So it goes, Prewash, main wash and Bleach. What detergents are prewash. I pour softener im the 3rd compartment as it goes straoght into the washer. Usually dont bother with the middle or II compartment. Any specific help. I also pour bleach in the 3rs compartment or mix with the 1st compartment. I Use MELLALUCA products and love them.
